The new members were formally appointed at the December 2012 CRG meeting and bring the group to a total of 13 members.

The CRG, first established in 1999, provides a forum for community members to communicate with KCGM. The group meets monthly to discuss the operation's safety and environmental management, mine performance and community investment, as well as upcoming projects and feedback from the community.

Michelle Berryman, KCGM Manager, Environment and Social Responsibility, said KCGM looked forward to working with the new members.

"New members bring different perspectives to the CRG, helping to ensure we are getting feedback from right across the community," she said.

"If you have ideas or concerns you would like to raise with KCGM, I encourage you to speak to one of our CRG members."

More information and contact details for all CRG members are available on the KCGM website: www.superpit.com.au.
